

It seems clear for several reasons, etymological included, that the primary sense of "authority" is the sense distinguished by orthodox theologians as "causative authority."

July 1996