

The specifically Christian means of salvation in no way confine the salvation of which they are the means, but serve only to define it.

5 June 1990