

I find it interesting that Hartshorne can use "individual" in what he speaks of as "the emphatic sense in which a person or vertebrate animal is an individual but a rock or even a tree is not" ("The Individual Is a Society": 74).

3 May 2009