

What, I ask, is the more than merely verbal meaning of such phrases as "mind as such," or "soul as such, or its generic principle" (IO: 21, 27), if not precisely "concreteness," defined in purely formal, transcendental terms?

1 February 1998