

According to Niebuhr, Christian faith is the faith that "there is not only a mystery behind and above the world of observed phenomena and intelligible meanings, but that it is a mystery whose meaning has been disclosed as a love which elicits our answering love" (Christian Realism and Political Problems: 142).