

Should the first of the two parts of the Epigraph be augmented as follows?

"The many become one, and are increased by one. . . . Also, there are two senses of the one—namely, the sense of the one which is all, and the sense of the one among the many. . . . We are each of us, one among others; and all of us are embraced in the unity of the whole. . . . The oneness of the universe and the oneness of each element in the universe, repeat themselves . . . in the creative advance from creature to creature, each creature including in itself the whole of history and exemplifying the self-identity of things and their mutual diversities."