

Corrigendum

Ad 5. Clearly, it is seriously misleading—and misled—to speak of the difference between particular individuals that are, and others that are not, also self-understanding individuals as "yet another ontological difference," on all fours with the differences between subjects and objects, particular individuals and the universal individual, and so on.