

"Assertion" is evidently ambiguous insofar as it can refer either

- (1) to the concrete act of communication whereby a speaker makes or implies a truth-claim of some kind to some hearer; or
- (2) to the abstract unit of language through which this truth-claim is made or implied.

Does this ambiguity reflect the difference between speech (= la parole) and language (= la langue)?